The Forefront Social Token Index is a digital asset designed to track the performance of the social token sector.

It is a collection of qualifying social tokens and is weighted based on the square root market cap multiplied by a Forefront factor that accounts for a liquidity and community score.

It aims to track projects in the social token industry that show significant usage and a commitment to ongoing maintenance and development.

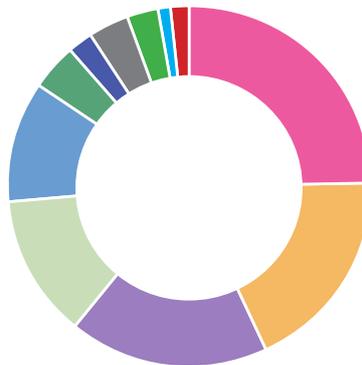

FF Social Token Index is rebalanced every 30 days to account for the fast-growing industry.

This product is still in Beta and is subject to change.
